The G. A. R. Post and Kindred Organization at U. P. Church.

Rev. W. P. McGary Delivers Excellent Sermon to Veterans — Church Nicely Decorated.

Rev. McGary, of the U. P. church, yesterday, delivered to the G. A. R. Post and kindred organizations of this city one of the finest memorial addresses ever heard in this city.

Members of the G. A. R. and W. R. C., about fifty in number, met at the court house as per arrangement and marched to the church in a body.

Every seat in the church was filled. The church was nicely decorated with palms and other pot flowers, also many beautiful cut flowers. In the rear of the pulpit two large American flags were artistically hung.

Duets by Prof. Craig and Miss Abbott and Prof. Craig and Miss Johnson and a selection by the Young Ladies' Glee club constituted the special music of the day, which was very fine and much appreciated.

Rev. McGary took for his text the 14th verse of the 12th chapter of Exodus, "This day shall be to you a memorial."

He said this day shall be to you for a memorial, first, of the horrors of war; second, of the lessons taught by the war; third, of the greatness of the land for which the war was waged; and fourth, of the duty of continued loyalty in the eternal war against wrong.

He said that he felt highly honored to have been called upon to deliver the memorial address, and welcomed the veterans, members of the Joel Wolfe Post, G. A. R., W. R. C. and organizations connected with it.

He said he would rather listen to one of their own number, who in the hour of peril, had answered his country's call to arms. That an empty sleeve or a battle scar were more eloquent on an occasion of this kind than words.

He said that Memorial day was not an occasion for the glorification of war. Our country does not glorify war, this nation of ours never fights until compelled, we wait for stern necessity before beginning a struggle.

"Did this country ever fire the first shot?" he said. He further showed that in each great struggle this country was slow to strike; that the British struck the first blow of the Revolution at Boston; the South at Ft. Sumpter, and the Spaniards in the harbor of Havana. That Grant, Lincoln, Sherman and all great men were advocates of peace.

After giving several vivid descriptions of war and its awfulness by soldiers who had been to the front, Rev. McGary said that this day should be a day to glorify not war but the great principles upon which it was fought and won.

That when a great principle is behind an army it will win, the Civil war began to be a success from the time the principle to strike down the nation's shame and free the slaves was advocated, which showed that God was with us, and would help us save our flag, which though dimmed, was not destined to be destroyed. You have with God's help thrown this curse off, and the colored man is freed, the principle of "Union forever" has been won and the lines between the North and South have been eliminated, and today we honor the dead of each. The graves are decorated alike, the soldiers of the north and south sleep side-by-side in peaceful slumber and flowers are distributed lovingly and forgivingly over each. The rays of the morning sun fall alike on the graves of the blue and of the gray.

Rev. McGary said that the heroes of the country were not dead, could never die, they lived by their deeds and in the memory of ones who loved them, and that we should honor those veterans that live and that the mere accident that one has fallen sooner than the other should not change our regard and appreciation for the living ones. We should bestow on them all the honors due.

Rev. McGary closed what was a much more eloquent address than the short sketch given here would indicate, by a strong plea for such observance of Decoration as would perpetuate it by impressing upon the young the fact that these fallen heroes died for principle. "Soldiers," he said in closing, "never ground arms in this eternal war for right. Seek the liberty which makes us free indeed. You have been true to your country, see that you be true to your God. You have been loyal to the stars and stripes; see that you are loyal to the banner under which the Prince of Peace now asks you to march."

Decoration at Fairview.

Upon the Graves of Their Departed Comrades.

Decoration Day is Fittingly Observed.—Hon. Thomas Davidson, of Greensburg, Delivers Address.

Decoration Day weather was not very favorable. Nearly all day long threatening clouds appeared in the sky, but the rain was withheld long enough to allow the veterans to complete the decorations of the graves at the cemetery, but they were forced to hold the exercises this afternoon at the opera house.

About forty-five veterans, nearly all members of the local post, gathered at the court house this morning and marched to the cemetery according to arrangements. About twenty-five members of the W. R. C. accompanied them in conveyances.

When they arrived at the cemetery the regular Decoration Day exercises were gone through with under the auspices of the Joel Wolfe Post, G. A. R. and the W. R. C. Col. E. H. Wolfe, Mayor Stevens and Comrade Ed. Young speaking for the G. A. R. and Lillie Armstrong, Mrs. Bainbridge, Mrs. Bert English and Mrs. Scott Conde for the W. R. C. Jabez Smith was color bearer.

The services were held at the monument in the cemetery, after which flowers were strewn on the graves of the soldiers, and then some were strewn on the water in memory of the dead sailors of the Civil war, who occupy a watery grave.

In the afternoon the same organizations again met at the court house and marched to the opera house, where the services were most appropriate. Despite the drizzling rain the opera house was crowded.

Rev. W. S. Campbell opened the meeting with prayer, after which the school children of grades two and three gave a flag drill and salute. They also sang "Our Flag Colors" and "Flying out the Flag." They were dressed in red, white and blue and the drills and songs were much applauded and highly appreciated.

Col. E. H. Wolfe read Lincoln's address at Gettysburg, and Miss Lulu Peters recited a beautiful poem entitled "Our Honored Dead," after which Hon. Thomas E. Davidson, of Greensburg, the orator of the day, delivered a fine address, remarkable for its patriotic sentiment, and of great force. It was greatly appreciated by all the veterans and citizens present.

Mayor John M. Stevens presided over the exercises and did it in that successful style, so characteristic of our mayor. The hall was beautifully decorated in flags and bunting which had been arranged by Grand Carr for the occasion. To this was added many flowers, and on the right of the stage was a mounted cannon, and on the left a monument decorated with flowers and wreaths.

Considering the weather, no decoration day in Rushville was ever more successful.

Why Manual Labor Is Indispensable

By COUNT LEO TOLSTOI

OWEVER strange and unkind it may seem that I, who live in luxury, allow myself to advise others to continue to live in want, I do it boldly, because I do not doubt for a moment that your life is a good one—good before your conscience, before God, and therefore it is essential and MOST USEFUL TO MANKIND—and that my activity, however useful it may seem to some people, loses, I hope not all, but certainly the greatest portion of its significance, through not showing the most important sign of the SINCERITY of what I preach.

A short time ago a clever and religious American, William Jennings Bryan, was in my house, and asked me why I consider common manual labor indispensable. I told him that, firstly, it is a sign of sincere RECOGNITION OF THE EQUALITY OF MEN; secondly, that it brings us nearer to the majority of the working people, from whom we are fenced off by a wall, if we profit by their need; thirdly, that it gives us the highest bliss and peace of conscience, which no sincere man utilizing the work of slaves has or can ever have.

In education, physical as well as mental, I suppose that the most important thing is not to FORCE anything on children; all the more is this necessary when it comes to the most important subject—religious education.

Just as it is useless and harmful to feed a child when it does not want to eat or to force a child to study subjects which do not interest it and which are unnecessary to it, so it is even more harmful to teach children religious conceptions about which they do not ask, and in most cases formulate them crudely and thus DESTROY THAT RELIGIOUS ATTITUDE toward life which at this time may perhaps unconsciously develop and establish itself in the child. All that is necessary, it seems to me, is to answer, but to answer TRUTHFULLY, the questions asked by a child. It seems very simple to answer truthfully the religious questions of a child—but in reality only he can do it who has answered to himself truthfully religious questions—about God, life, death, good and evil, those very questions which children always ask so clearly and definitely.

IN FLATROCK

John J. Bitner, Jr., of Sexton Drowned While Seining North of C. H. & D. Bridge.

Body Not Recovered Until Early This Morning—Unfortunate Man was Well Known Throughout County.

Last night about nine o'clock, John J. Bitner, Jr., of near Sexton, while engaged in seining with James Alsop, Fred Bell and Al. Sharp in Flatrock, at a point about three hundred yards north of the C. H. & D. bridge, east of this city, was seized with cramps and drowned.

Bitner had been spending the day with friends near this city and the four had planned to go seining that night. They had secured a sein and were engaged in seining at the point above mentioned, near a bend in the river, when Bitner was seized with cramps. The water is very cold at this point, as there are several springs in the river bed, and his is thought to have caused the attack.

Bitner had on very heavy clothing and a pair of high top rubber boots. He attempted to swim out, but was seized by another attack and sank in nine feet of water at a point about ten feet from the west bank.

Attempts to render him assistance were of no avail, and he sank to his death.

Leaving some of the number to watch for the body, the rest of the men started to this city for help. A boat was obtained from Stewart Beale, and grappling hooks from the fire department and loaded on a wagon hauled by a team obtained from Caldwell's livery barn. George Monjar, Stewart Beale, Lowell Green and Coroner Frank Green went with the party and assisted in finding the body. The party got to the scene of the accident about 11:30 o'clock and searched for the body until 1:15, when it was brought to the surface. The body was taken to Wyatt's undertaking establishment where it was prepared for burial. The remains were taken to the deceased's home, about one mile east of Sexton this afternoon. Definite arrangements for the funeral have as yet not been made, but the burial will probably take place Wednesday.

Mr. Bitner was about forty years of age, was the son of John Bitner, who runs a general store at Sexton, and was well known throughout the county. He was kind and congenial and to know him was to be his friend.

He leaves a wife and five children. He is said to have carried a large amount of fraternal insurance in some of the local organizations.

ports of the Kia Chou battle. The people in the streets almost mob newsboys to secure extras containing the dispatches.

Crowds stood around the official bulletin boards awaiting the Russian versions, but none arrived. The official world as well as the public is entirely dependent on the Japanese for news. Further details are eagerly looked for, especially regarding losses. The prevailing conviction here is that the Japanese must have carried Nan Chan at tremendous sacrifice. The accounts of the heroically stubborn defense made by the Russians notwithstanding their position, subjected to the fire of artillery from the front and from warships on the flank, are a source of much satisfaction. Their own reports, the Russians say, could not have placed the fighting qualities of their soldiers in a better light than do those from the Japanese.

Both the admiralty and the war office are without news and frankly confess they do not expect to hear from the beleaguered garrison in Port Arthur again directly except by accident until the fortress has been relieved or surrendered or the war ended. Some native reports that drifted into headquarters at Liao Yang and were forwarded here say that the Japanese lost many thousands.

The impression in army circles is that the Japanese will push operations against Port Arthur with the greatest energy, but it is also believed a month or more will be required to bring up siege guns.

In the Turin Library fire 400 valuable Greek manuscripts were destroyed and 1200 Latin, among the latter some by Pliny and Cicero.

Manager Kelley of the Reds is evidently going after the two Chicago games as Jack Harper and Winnie Kellum are carded to pitch today, while Manager Seelo will depend upon either Briggs, Wicker or Ludgren.

New York has a fine chance to get a little lead on first place today when they tackle the Phillies, who bring up the bottom in the standing. While the Giants are up against what is conceded to be easy game, the Reds and Chicago Colts will battle. These games are sure to be great battles, as both the teams want to be as near the top as possible when they go East.

Today's games will be the last played in Cincinnati by the national league team until June 18th.

The Rushville high school and Rushville city base ball teams will cross bats in a practice game at the South Main street grounds tomorrow afternoon. The game will be called at 2:30. Both teams are confident of winning and are determined to do or die. The teams are about evenly matched and of course a good game is expected. Manager Geraghty is to be congratulated upon his success in securing this famous nine for the game tomorrow. No admission will be charged.

Richland Township Convention.

The Republican Township Convention, of Richland township, for the purpose of nominating township officers will be held on Saturday, June 11th, at the Richland school house, at 1 o'clock p.m. BY ORDER OF COMMITTEE.

Bryan is now a candidate to the national convention. Looks as though he had heard of Green Smith's probable chairmanship and wanted to be sure to get in.

It would seem from events recently transpired and arrests made that Sabbath desecrations were becoming more common in Rushville and Rush county. The good citizens of this city and county should see to it that Rush county's citizens abide by the law, and retain the good reputation of peaceful citizens that they have held in the past.

Mr. William Randolph Hearst, candidate for nomination for president on the Democratic ticket, is fond of parading his good works before men, or, his profession of good works. His strongest point is his "trust busting" record. He poses as the friend of the laboring man, the down trodden and the poor. He maintains free lunch wagons in New York, so we are told. Yes, he does; but not downtown, not in Bleeker street nor in Mott street, or any where in the East Side, where there is need of such charity, but up town, on Fifth avenue and on the fashionable streets with high priced flats, where there is no demand. His free lunch wagons were purely for advertising purposes, and he placed them where they would not cost him so very much. This friend of the poor spends so much money as a slush fund in his efforts to buy delegations to the national convention that he cripples the financial standing of his mother to that degree that she has to withdraw her support to a free kindergarten, which was a blessing to hundreds of New York children. His last stunt is to organize a newspaper trust in Chicago, whereby the newsboys are to be literally robbed of the few pennies they make on the sales of Sunday papers. A great man is this "trust busting" Hearst, a friend of the poor! —Richmond Items.

EXCESS VOTE RULE

A Matter That Promises Politicians Some Little Trouble.

Indianapolis, May 30.—The "excess vote rule" to provide representation in the legislature for minority counties in joint districts, is going to cause the Republican state committee a mess of trouble before it is finally instructed. For instance, three of the chairmen of the district composed of Madison, Montgomery, Boone and Hamilton counties have decided in favor of making the nomination by the old way, and a call has been issued for a convention at Lebanon June 16. A protest was filed against this by Chairman Parker of Madison county, and it is said that Chairman Goodrich will recognize it. His decision when a similar case came up from the big joint district of Howard, Miami, Grant, Huntington and Wabash counties, was that the old plan might be used providing all the chairmen agreed and not unless there was an agreement. Those who are inclined to hold that the will of the three counties of the "shoe-string" district should be regarded, are pointing out that Chairman Goodrich cannot ignore the protest from Madison county in view of the precedent he has established and of the rule itself. There is also some complaint against the rule because it makes it necessary in a number of instances to call a mass convention to name one or two delegates when it is pointed out that they might as well be named by the county chairman, as they do not have much voice in the convention because they are minority members. It is probable that when the committee meets again there will be a careful consideration of the rule.

Politicians throughout the state are turning the limelight on this city to discover what the two old parties are doing toward organizing for the coming campaign. It may be stated that each party is well along with the work and that a lot of routine labor which does not count in the newspapers is now being done. The Republicans have about decided to wait until the middle or the latter part of August to nominate their legislative ticket, which is all they have to do in the nominating line. It is said that the date for the convention is being withheld to see whether or not Senator Fairbanks is nominated for vice president, which would have much to do with the policy of the leaders here, as there would be a number of candidates hunting for the support of local delegates. The Democrats have not made any of their nominations, and it is probable that none of their conventions will be held until after the national convention, when the party policy will be well defined. It is very probable, however, that the Democrats will have out an unusually strong ticket this year, as they are going to make a determined effort to carry the county.

A question is being raised here every day as to whether or not there is any real sentiment among the Indiana Democrats for Judge Alton B. Parker. It is admitted generally that the situation is very peculiar. The delegation is under ironclad instructions to support him, yet it is not denied by the Democratic leaders that don't know much about him. In view of this admission the question is being put to them concerning the extent of the Parker sentiment and whether or not there is any. It is not doubted that the New York jurist has many admirers in Indiana because of his ability as a lawyer and a judge, yet those who have kept a careful tab on the situation now recall that his most ardent supporters, outside the Taggart organization, are among the lawyers of the state. It is because of these conditions and admissions that there is a lot of speculation as to whether or not Indiana will stick by Parker and whether or not he is the real choice of the delegates. Many politicians are saying that the Indiana delegates would not hesitate to dump Parker if it were necessary, because none of them know him.

It is yet probable that the Indiana delegates to the Republican national convention at Chicago will have a meeting here before they leave for the scene of action. It is said that Governor Durbin and several other delegates feel that it would be wise to have a meeting at which the delegates can organize and make customary arrangements for the assessment for expenses. A meeting may be held this week before National Committeeman New goes to Chicago. New is just back from a fishing trip in Michigan. He is now learning that his friends have been boozing him for the national chairmanship during his absence, but he modestly disclaims any aspiration to manage the campaign. However, not a few party leaders outside of Indiana agree fully with the party leaders here that New would make an ideal man for the place, and they are very hopeful that he may yet be elected to it.

METHODISTS ADJOURN

The Los Angeles Meeting Was One of Much Importance.

Los Angeles, Cal., May 30.—It was after midnight when the general conference of the Methodist Episcopal church finished the final roll-call Saturday night which brought to a close the most memorable gathering in the history of the church. Sunday memorial services were held during the afternoon, and in the evening a jubilee service at the pavilion closed the series of meetings. When the final roll-call was taken Saturday night, 600 of the 750 accredited delegates were in their seats. The decision to adjourn was not arrived at until late Saturday evening, and in order to finish the business before the assembly it was necessary to run over into Sunday in the work of calling the roll.

The conference just closed has accomplished much for the interest of the Methodist church, and will go down in church history as one of the most important in the point of executive action. The action of the general conference in retiring five bishops and electing eleven others probably attracted the widest attention of any other single happening, but there were many other subjects that affected the great membership of the Methodist church and which were watched with deep interest.

Among these were the decision to stand by the present attitude of the church on the subject of prohibited amusements; the refusal to return to the time limit of pastoral services; the exonerating of certain theological schools of the charge of heretical teachings; the unification of the Methodist publishing houses; the consolidation of the boards of church benevolence; providing of support for superannuated ministers; fixing the status of superannuated bishops; creating a commission to revise the ritual of the church; continuing the commission appointed four years ago to bring the various branches of Methodism closer together in the use of common prayer books, hymnal and catechisms; a referendum of the much discussed question of a colored bishop and many other matters of similar importance.

A QUIET FUNERAL

o Ostentation Will Mark the Burial of Senator Quay.

ANTE-MORTEM REQUEST

Following the Departed Statesman's Expressed Wish the Ceremonies Will Be Simple.

Even the Request of the Masons For a Masonic Funeral Was Necessary Refused.

Beaver, Pa., May 30.—The funeral of Matthew Stanley Quay, senior senator from Pennsylvania, who died Saturday afternoon, will be held tomorrow and interment will be made in Beaver cemetery. Besides the honors that will be paid the departed statesmen by the presence at the graveside of

SENATOR M. S. QUAY.

Pennsylvania's state officers, the entire Pennsylvania delegation in congress, under appointment by Speaker Cannon, will be present to represent the nation at the funeral. Many of Senator Quay's colleagues in the senate will also be present.

The death of Senator Quay was due to chronic gastritis, from which he had long suffered. The end came like a peaceful sleep, growing deeper and more profound until the end was death. Every member of the family was at his bedside. Senator Quay's indisposition began about a year ago. It was a recurrence of the trouble that beset him during the latter part of 1900 and the early days of January, 1901, when he was undergoing the strain of a campaign for re-election to the senate. Ten days ago he began the arrangements of his personal affairs, looking toward the end. The last papers were not signed until Friday morning, but the arrangements were all made. Mr. Quay showed all the stoicism of an Indian in his last illness. He held out no hope of recovery and refused to believe it was possible. Coolly and with firmness he took leave of his dearest things. Thursday he asked to be taken to his famous library, remarking to his attendants: "I want to see my books once more before I die." Through it all he maintained a bright, active mind and his mental energies never flagged.

Carrying out the senator's dying request, there will be no ostentation in connection with the funeral. This compels the refusal of a request by the Masons for a Masonic funeral. The body will remain in the senator's bed room where he died, until tomorrow, when it will be carried to the First Presbyterian church in charge of Post 473 G. A. R., of which Senator Quay was a member, and lie in state from 9 a. m. until 1 p. m. The church will then be cleared and at 2 o'clock the funeral services will be conducted by Rev. J. S. Ramsey, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, assisted by the Rev. Appleton Bach, D.D., of the Methodist Episcopal church.

Speaker Appoints Delegation.

Washington, May 30.—Speaker Cannon has appointed the entire Pennsylvania state delegation as a committee to represent the house of representatives at the funeral of the late Senator Quay at Beaver, Pa., tomorrow. A special car will be attached to the train leaving Washington at 7:15 this evening for the use of such members of the committees of the two houses of congress as may be in this city at that time. Other members will be met at Pittsburgh Tuesday morning, and the entire congressional party will proceed to Beaver by special train.

Former Congressman Dead.

STATE NEWS

DETERMINED ACTION

It May Be Necessary to Land Marines at Tangier.

Washington, May 30.—Arrangements have been practically completed for the dedication of the Indiana building at the St. Louis world's fair next Friday. It is expected that three or four thousand loyal Hoosiers will be on hand to participate in the program. Governor Durbin will be accompanied by his staff, and there will be many other prominent men of the state. Governor Durbin, Lieutenant Governor Gilbert, and Henry W. Marshall, speaker of the last house of representatives, will make addresses. The building will be turned over to the governor by Frank C. Ball of Muncie, chairman of the building committee. There will be a reception at the building at night at which wives of the members of the commission will be in the receiving party. Those who have seen the Indiana building say that it is the most beautiful and most convenient state building on the grounds. Most of the features of the Indiana exhibit are now in readiness, and, as predicted some time ago, the state takes first rank and is making a showing that is even better than anticipated.

A MISTRIAL
Jury in the Gillespie Case Could Not Get Together.

Rising Sun, Ind., May 30.—The jury in the Gillespie murder case disagreed and were discharged by Judge Downey at noon Sunday. The effect of the mistrial will be to continue the case until the September term of court. Congressman Griffith, counsel for the defendants, announces that a writ of habeas corpus will be presented to Judge Downey to secure the release of Jim Gillespie from the custody of the sheriff and the court will be asked to allow him his freedom on a bail bond, as is the case with Mrs. Barbour, her husband and Belle Seward.

To meet this coup on the part of the defense, Harry McMullen, who is watching the interests of the state, will ask the court to declare forfeit the bonds under which Mrs. Seward and Myron and Carrie Barbour are at liberty and order them to be confined in jail. If this is decided on, the two women will be taken to the Dearborn county jail at Lawrenceburg and Myron Barbour will be kept here.

Should the writ of habeas corpus be denied by Judge Downey the matter will be taken to the supreme court of the state. Rising Sun is very quiet today and no trouble is anticipated. August Crewe, who was on the jury originally but afterward challenged, committed suicide Saturday night. It is said he lost his mind worrying over the Gillespie case and imagined that James Gillespie was trying to kill him.

Will Reopen Schafer Case.
Bedford, Ind., May 30.—"Who murdered Sarah Schafer?" The question is one that seems likely never to be satisfactorily answered. Yet as an incentive rewards amounting to $2,000, in addition to the $1,250 standing from the day of the crime, have been offered. The Bedford National bank, the Citizens' National bank and Postmaster V. V. Williams make their offer of $1,000 good till May 28, 1905. Interest in the murder has not waned with the acquittal of James McDonald in the circuit court Friday on a charge of having committed the murder. On the contrary the interest seems more intense, and Judge Wilson announces that he will confer with Prosecutor Miller in regard to calling a special grand jury together for the purpose of further investigating the Schafer murder. "I purpose to use all the legal machinery of Lawrence county and exhaust every effort to completely sift and search out every possible clue in this terrible affair," said Judge Wilson.

More Bankers in Trouble.
Auburn, Ind., May 30.—The grand jury has returned two indictments against Albert Robbins, president, and Edward Robbins, cashier, of the Farmers' bank of this city. The bills charge them with receiving deposits when the bank was to them known to be insolvent. They furnished bond in the sum of $5,000 each.

Indiana Dental Association.
Indianapolis, May 30.—The largest gathering of dentists that ever attended a state dental convention will meet in this city on June 14, 15 and 16 at the 46th annual convention of the Indiana State Dental association. Over 400 dentists from different cities in Indiana and adjoining states are expected to attend.

Child Burned to Death.
Vincennes, Ind., May 30.—Little Thes. Mattingly played with matches and was burned to death.

Boy Drowned in Street.
Muncie, Ind., May 30.—Frank Gray, a fourteen-year-old boy, drowned in White river at Elm street in this city. He fell into a hole which had been washed out in McCulloch boulevard by the spring floods. The boy, who could not swim, was wading and fell into the hole, which is twelve feet deep. The body was recovered.

Program at Winona.
Warsaw, Ind., May 30.—The program of the Winona Assembly association, which will open its tenth season June 15, excels those of previous years. Improvements to the grounds to the amount of $40,000 have been made since last year.

Full details of rates and reservations can be had by sending a postal card to The Inside Inn, care of Administration Bldg., World's Fair Grounds, St. Louis.
